

Endangerment areas: Commonly used insulin injection sites.

- Keep touch a hand-width away from injection sites used within the past 24-hours
- Avoid deep pressure or shearing force across frequently used injection sites; to do so may liberate accumulated insulin into the bloodstream, causing blood glucose levels to drop dangerously

